

Lea finke
FINE ARTS

ARTIST AND ART BLOGGER

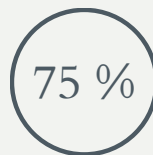

ABOUT ME

I'm Lea Finke, a self-taught artist specializing in abstract painting. Since childhood, art has been my way of expressing myself and communicating. Through continuous learning and exchanges with artists worldwide, I have steadily expanded my artistic understanding.

In my work, I merge the abstract with the familiar, the figurative with the imaginary. My pieces reflect both personal and universal experiences. I explore themes of fragility and vulnerability—both in humans and nature, as well as in their delicate relationship with each other.

Women & Non-binary

Age 20 - 44

Reach

SIGNATURE STROKES

ART BLOG

My bilingual blog explores art, creativity, and inspiration, alongside cultural topics, sustainability, and mental health. I share insights into the creative process, personal experiences, and perspectives on the art world.

In addition to my own reflections, I regularly publish interviews with artists and creative minds from around the world. These discussions go beyond art, exploring the connections between creativity, society, and personal well-being.

ENGLISH-SPEAKING AUDIENCE

55% USA

30% UK

12% Canada

COLLABORATION OPPORTUNITIES

- Sponsored blog posts
- Product features (e.g., materials, workshops)
- Artist interviews or guest contributions
- Art campaigns or event coverage

